S/he is the means by which the Board achieves its intents and purposes for the Cooperative. Between sessions of the Board, the General Manager is the de facto surrogate for the Board. This implies broad, but never independent, powers.

In exercising these powers, the General Manager may not cause or allow any practice, activity, decision, or organizational circumstance which is either imprudent, unlawful, or in violation of commonly accepted business and professional ethics.

This policy will be monitored in Jan

Revised 01.18

The Board delegates authority to the GM through written Ends and Executive Limitations policies.

1. As long as the GM uses any reasonable interpretation of the Board’s Ends and Executive Limitations policies, the GM is authorized to establish all further policies, practices and plans for the cooperative.
2. The Board will respect and accept the GM’s choices as long as those choices are based on reasonable interpretations of Board policies.
3. If the Board changes an Ends or Executive Limitations policy, the change only applies in the future.

Policy Type Board-Management Relationship
Policy Title BMR 4 – Evaluating the GM
Revised 01.18

The Board will systematically and rigorously monitor and evaluate the GM’s job performance compared to expectations set forth in Board policies.

1. The Board’s policy monitoring process is the foundation of our annual evaluation of the GM.
 - a. In [June] of each year the Board will review a summary of the monitoring reports received during the previous 12 months. Based on that review, the Board will present an evaluation letter to the GM. That letter will constitute our full evaluation, and it will be delivered no later than [July 31].
2. The Board will acquire monitoring information by one or more of three methods: (a) by internal report, in which the GM discloses policy interpretations and compliance information to the Board; (b) by external report, in which an external, disinterested third party selected by the Board assesses compliance with Board policies; or (c) by direct Board inspection, in which a designated director or committee assesses compliance with the policy.
3. The Board’s standard for compliance will be any reasonable GM interpretation (as described by operational definitions and metrics) of the Board policy being monitored. The Board is the final arbiter of reasonableness but we will always judge with a “reasonable person” test rather than with interpretations favored by individual directors or by the Board as a whole.
4. The Board will accept that the GM is compliant with a policy if the monitoring report includes a reasonable interpretation and adequate data that demonstrate accomplishment of that interpretation.
5. The Board will monitor all policies that instruct the GM. The Board can monitor any policy at any time by any method listed above but will ordinarily follow the schedule outlined in the Board Annual Calendar.

Middlebury Natural Foods Co-op General Manager Compensation Philosophy²

Overview

As a Board of Directors dedicated to being an excellent employer to the General Manager (GM) of The Middlebury Natural Foods Co-op (MNFC), our goal is to cultivate a relationship rooted in equity, respect, and mutual support. This Compensation Philosophy is intended to:

- provide a transparent outline of the guiding principles for how the GM is compensated
- set clear expectations for the GM and the Board
- to attract and retain a well-qualified General Manager

We intend for this philosophy to be informed by the MNFC Mission and Ends Statements and our Board-Management Relationship policies (BMR's), all of which are available to view at <https://middlebury.coop/learn/our-board/>.

Goals

With this compensation policy we aim to achieve the following:

- An equitable and transparent GM compensation package that is in line with our Board policies (available here).
- A yearly wage that exceeds the living wage standard for the average-sized household³ in Addison County.
- Clarity and consistency around the process for determining the compensation of the GM.
- Minimizing the pay ratio between lowest and highest paid employees to never be more than five times⁴.
- To explore compensation package components such as bonuses, performance incentives, and deferred compensation using the Columinate compensation database of stores within a similar sales volume for comparison.

Components & Criteria

This compensation philosophy is based on the following components:

- Quantitative criteria for determining MNFC's GM salary range and benefits package, which includes:
 - National industry data from food co-ops, other retail grocery stores, and other relevant industry comparisons

² Structure and content inspired by compensation philosophy from Just Fare, food services, event catering, commercial kitchen and food program design business founded by MNFC board member June 2022-January 2023

³ As reported in the most recent US Census. Recommended by Tabitha Moore, JEDI consultant. Contracted with MNFC Board in 2022&2023

⁴ <https://columinate.coop/what-the-columinate-compensation-database-tells-us-about-pay-ratios/>

BMR

- 1) Columinate Compensation Database: GM salaries from peer food cooperatives of equivalent sales (approximately annual sales volumes $5 million less and greater than current year projected annual sales).
 - 2) Salary.com & Glassdoor (or equivalent): national “grocery store manager” position salary data
 - 3) US Bureau of Labor Statistics, Occupational Employment and Wage Statistics, Northern Nonmetropolitan Vermont, “CEO” position⁵
 - Local cost of living data⁶
 - Pay ratio between the highest and lowest employee within MNFC
 - Scoring mechanism (i.e., how various data sources are weighed and compensation is determined)
- The criteria for establishing and revising the salary and benefits package for a specific GM:
 - Objective components based on the individual; i.e., years of industry experience, relevant employment experience, and pertinent skills and competencies.
 - Objective components based on the Co-op: meeting the ENDS and compliance with all Executive Limitations Policies.
 - Local conditions beyond Cost of Living: unusual events such as national disasters, pandemic activity etc. and / or unusual personal circumstances of the GM such as family emergency, illness etc.

Policy & Communication Standards

- The Board will review the GM compensation philosophy document annually and will incorporate the use of JEDI policy audit tools in this yearly review
- The full Board will evaluate compensation adjustments annually based on the compensation philosophy
- The salary range for the GM position will be publicly available in a manner that is consistent with MNFC HR practices and will be included in any job postings for future GM hiring; the actual compensation that the current GM receives is not made public

Policy Governance Quick Guide

Source: CDS Consulting Co-op

Policy Governance is an operating system for boards of directors. As with operating systems for computers, the system itself is not the point of the board's work; the system simply provides an underlying framework on which boards can build further agreements and activities. Policy Governance does not mandate specific decisions, but does highlight the kinds of decisions a board should make. These decisions include agreements about how the board will work together, how the board will empower and hold accountable the cooperative's management, how the board will articulate the cooperative's purpose and set up the cooperative for movement in that direction, and how the board understands the role of member-owners and others in the governance of the cooperative.

The Policy Governance operating system is essentially an integrated set of principles – principles that gain their power when used together. Key to the principles is the meaning of the word “policy.” Within the context of Policy Governance, policies are the proactive articulation of values or principles that guide action.

Policy Governance principles:

1. Ownership

The cooperative is owned by its members. The board exists to act and make decisions on behalf of and in the best interest of the owners.

2. Position of Board

The board is a distinct link in the chain of empowerment and accountability within the cooperative. The owners empower the board through the bylaws, and the board is accountable to owners for the success of the cooperative. In turn, the board empowers and holds management accountable, delegating authority to management through Ends and Executive Limitations policies.

3. Board Holism

The authority of the board belongs to the whole. To say that the board “speaks with one voice” means that the board's authority is a group authority. The “voice” of the board is expressed through the written policy decisions. Directors can work to persuade and influence the board in its deliberations and decision-making; beyond that, individual directors or subsets of the board have no authority to instruct staff.

4. Board Means Policies

The board defines in writing its own job and how it operates. These decisions are agreements about the board's means, categorized as Board Process policies and Board-Management Relationship policies.

5. Clarity and Coherence of Delegation

The board unambiguously identifies the authority and responsibility of any person (e.g., GM or board president) or committee to whom the board delegates. No individual director, officer, or committee can be delegated responsibility that interferes with or duplicates responsibility delegated to the GM.

6. Ends Policies

The board defines in writing the cooperative's purpose in terms of: intended effects/benefits to be produced, intended recipients of those benefits, and (if desired) the intended cost-benefit or

APPENDIX

priority of those benefits. (Any decisions about issues that don't fit the definition of Ends are means decisions.)

7. Executive Limitations Policies

The board defines in writing its expectations about the means of the cooperative. Rather than prescribing board-chosen means, Executive Limitation policies define limits on operational means – essentially, defining boundaries on the GM's authority. Executive Limitation policies describe means that are not allowed even if they are effective. The board retains the authority to make decisions that are outside of the GM's authority.

8. Policy sizes

The board decides the four types of policies first at the broadest, most inclusive level. The board can then further define each policy in further levels of detail until reaching a point at which the board can accept any reasonable interpretation of the written policy.

9. Any Reasonable Interpretation

More detailed decisions about Ends and operational means are delegated to the GM, who has the right to use any reasonable interpretation of the board's written policies. A reasonable interpretation will include more detailed and/or clarified meaning of the board's policy, along with operational definitions (the metrics and benchmarks used to gauge accomplishment). More detailed decisions about board means (and the right to use any reasonable interpretation of those written policies) are delegated to the board chair – unless part of the delegation is explicitly directed to another officer or committee.

10. Monitoring

The board must check to ensure that the cooperative has achieved (or made progress toward) the Ends while operating within the Executive Limitation boundaries. The board judges the GM's interpretation and operational definition for reasonableness, and judges whether the data demonstrates accomplishment of that interpretation and operational definition. The ongoing monitoring of Ends and Executive Limitations policies constitutes the GM's performance evaluation. The board must monitor its own performance according to the stated board means policies.

Directors having such an interest will be permitted to make a statement with regard to the matter and shall then be required to leave the meeting room. A transaction in which a director has an interest will be prohibited unless the transaction is fair to the Cooperative and is approved by no less than a two-thirds majority of all disinterested directors.
